THE CONCERT.

Charmed a Thousand Souls Last Night.

The long looked for concert, known as Walden testimonial concert, came off at the Crawford Grand opera house last night, and there is hardly any question but what it will go down in the cial annals of Wichita as one of the most orilliant events of the year 1891.

It was an unparalleled success start to finish, and there was not a lady or gentleman in the opera house capable of admiring or appreciating true genius but what felt pronder than ever of Wichita and of Wichita's talented daughters and

The latest victim of the freight bill lend, one Thomas Smith, is credited to this county by the exchanges. He is described as a cheerful, good natured red faced farmer. Thomas, it appears, while waiting for the train at Topeka was approached in a very gentlementy manner by a dapper looking fellow and asked to cash an $8 check for the purpose, as the young man stated, of paying a freight bill. He awaited the return of the individual who promised to return and redeem the check for an hour but he failed to show up and then it began to dawn on his mind that he was swindled. He told the Tope-
